DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/26/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Rejection of claim 16 on record will be maintained for reasons on record and reasons as follows.

I. Applicant argues that DeMil teaches increasing floral fertility by treating plants between floral induction and the end of inflorescence. Applicant argues that the number of grapes are increased during this period. Applicant argues that this is opposite to the instant invention which is directed to increasing the sugar content of grapes. Applicant also argues that it is well known that in order to increase sugar production , the number of grapes on the vine must be decreased. Applicant further argues that the instant invention discloses that the vines of the grape are treated when the grapes are on the vine. Examiner argues that Applicant provides no support for treating the vines of the grapes when grapes are on the vine. In addition, since the periods including the end of flowering to the formation of grapes is not distinguished, DeMil teaches treating the vine when grapes are on the vine.

II. Claims 15,17,19,20 are allowable for reasons on record.

III. Other Matters

Examiner suggest: In claim 19 last line delete "of" and insert ---to said ---.
